PRESS RELEASE

Custom Log Home Featured in National Publication

For immediate release: May 13, 2025

Middleburg, PA – [May 13, 2025] – Timberhaven Log & Timber Homes is proud to announce that one of its stunning custom homes, a modified Keystone model, has been nationally recognized and featured in the March 2025 issue of Log & Timber Home Living magazine. The feature story, titled “Together Again,” beautifully captures the heartwarming journey of the homeowners and the craftsmanship that brought their log home dreams to life.

The article showcases how the couple, after spending years apart due to career commitments, found their forever home nestled in the scenic countryside of Pennsylvania. Their modified Keystone log home—a timeless design tailored to their personal lifestyle—embodies the warmth, comfort, and natural beauty that define Timberhaven’s custom-built homes.

With striking Eastern White Pine logs, expansive outdoor living areas, and personalized interior touches throughout, the home tells a story far beyond aesthetics. It represents a homecoming, a shared dream realized, and the enduring quality of Timberhaven’s construction. From the carefully selected finishes to the cozy, open-concept layout, every detail reflects the homeowners’ vision—made possible by Timberhaven’s hands-on design and manufacturing approach.

“We’re honored to have our work featured in such a prestigious publication,” said Bobbi Landis, Marketing Director at Timberhaven Log & Timber Homes. “More importantly, we’re thrilled for the homeowners. Their story of resilience and togetherness is inspiring, and we’re grateful to have played a part in it.”

Log & Timber Home Living is a national magazine that celebrates the unique lifestyle of log and timber homeowners. This feature puts a spotlight not only on the beauty and functionality of Timberhaven’s homes but also on the emotional connection people form with their spaces.
